The division shall be assigned to successful candidates on the basis of marks obtained in the papers of first year, second year and third year examinations of LL.B. Degree course as under :

First Division with distinction 75 % and above marks (including Grace marks if obtained.)

First Division - 60 % and above but below 75 % marks (including grace marks if obtained.)

Second Division - 48 % and above but below 60 % marks (including Grace marks if obtained)

The candidates taking First, Second or Third Year examination shall answer the questions either in Hindi or in English language.

The scheme of examination, the course of studies and the rules of examinations which are applicable to regular students shall apply to ex-student except those which are made specifically applicable to them.

The sessional, tutorial, legal writing, practical training and the like marks obtained by a candidate of other University in LL.B. First or Second year shall not be counted for the purpose of division as they are not provided in this University.

The candidates who are ex-students of LL.B. first year and second year or of second year and third year simultaneously under ATKT scheme of examination may appear in the main supplementary examinations of both year simulataneously with those paper/papers offered by them as regular candidates till they clear the examinations. In case such paper/papers are deleted or changed, they may appear with the alternate paper/papers as ex-students. However they must fill separate examination forms for both the years.

A female candidate who is qualified to take admission in the LL.B. Degree course as a collegiate candidate may appear in all the three years' examinations of LL.B. Degree course, ~~as~~ as non-collegiate candidate. The scheme of examination except practical training, course of studies and other rules of examinations applicable to collegiate candidates will apply to her.

Actual marks obtained by the candidate in the main and in the supplementary examinations either as regular or as ex-student will be counted for passing, aggregate and division.

All the regular students of LL.B. Third year are required to undergo practical training in law and to keep its record in the form of files. The record shall be valued and the Viva-Voce examination shall be conducted on the practical training in law by a board of examiners consisting of an internal and an external examiner to be appointed by the University. The Head of the Law Department shall be the internal examiner. In his absence other teacher of the Law Department may be appointed as internal examiner. If no teacher of the Law Department is available then external alone will conduct the viva-voce examination. The minimum pass marks for record and for viva-voce are 18% separately. The marks shall be awarded by consensus of examiners. In case of difference of opinion between examiners the total marks both of record and viva-voce shall be divided between the examiners and shall be awarded by them individually. The awarded/marks on record and viva-voce by both the examiners shall be totalled in each case. These totals shall be the practical marks of candidates. If a candidate obtained 18% or more marks in each, these marks shall be carried forward if he fails in theory papers. If a candidate obtains less than 18% marks in record or viva voce or in both he is fail even if he passes in theory papers. Such a candidate will have to reappear in record & viva voce both. For this purpose he has to undergo practical training again in the college with due permission. Practical training in law is treated as a subject for the declaration of result. However, the marks obtained in practical training in law will not be counted for aggregate and division.
